My Dear friend,

I have your letter of April 2nd. I read it very carefully, and I like very much the tone of it, it being very human and entirely destitute of that horrible 100% business style. I understand that for you - as for me - the establishment of a Botanical Garden is more than a paying proposition: it is a work of art that calls for some unselfishness.

For this reason and other, I do not consider the matter as closed, until I have had time to confer leisurely with the City authorities. Since I saw you, we have had elections, the former Council has been turned out of office, and new men are in. I am letting the dust come down before attending to this matter.

As soon as I can be free enough I will be down in New York, accepting your kind invitation to visit the Boyce- Thompson Arboretum.

In the mean time believe me

Cordially yours,
