Dear Professor Victorin :

I have had as yet no answer from you to my last letter but I presume that you are kept very busy now with graduation exercises and such, and I expect that I shall hear from you presently. Naturally, I should be anxious to know as soon as possible at what time you want me to come - if you still want me to come - so that I can arrange my work here accordingly.

In the meantime I have completed the program for a botanical garden which I mentioned to you in my last letter, and I am sending you enclosed a copy of it. I trust that you will find it of interest, and I shall be happy if it assists you in facing your problems.

I realize that this program is very ambitious, but I consider it as important to face all the possibilities at the beginning in order that nothing may be overlooked. With careful planning and efficient organizing, and by attacking my program point for point, most of it may be realized, though, within a very reasonable budget. I know from experience that it does not cost more to make a good garden than to make a bad one. In fact, the latter is usually more expensive in the long run.

Buildings, of course, are always expensive and must be considered apart from the rest.

Faithfully yours

H. Teuscher
